The hotel and conference centre

The 4* Hotel Sinsheim is in the heart of the Kraichgau region, near the A6 motorway between Mannheim and Nürnberg, about an hour's drive from Frankfurt. Right around the corner, within walking distance, are the AUTO & TECHNIK MUSEUM SINSHEIM, the Sinsheim Exhibition Hall, the Rhein-Neckar Arena and the Palmenparadies. The architect has designed a modern hotel, divided between two buildings, each with 5 floors and 110 rooms and suites in total. In the 76 Superior rooms, 10 Deluxe rooms, 18 Twin Bed rooms (non-smoking rooms) and 5 Junior Suites, guests can expect the utmost comfort with all amenities. For guests with limited mobility, there are three rooms specially designed to suit the needs of disabled people.

All rooms are furnished in a modern style and have air conditioning, shower/toilet with hairdryer and cosmetic mirror, satellite TV, phone and free internet connection, a minibar, a writing table and a small seating area. The Junior Suites also have a bathtub with a separate toilet, a small living area and a coffee maker. There is free parking available for all the hotel's approximately 200 guests.

The Hotel Sinsheim is decorated in various different styles. The bar and cocktail lounge 'Arantas' represents Australia, the breakfast room is inspired by Africa, while the entrance hall and reception are in a European style. The wellness area 'Little Oasis' represents Asia, and the large conference room is designed with America in mind. The Hotel Sinsheim combines the atmosphere of the five continents, for visitors from all over the world. The furniture and the interior design are all custom-made by German manufacturers. The concept and the design are the work of architect Markus Naurath.

The reception area is in the generous entrance hall, from where you can access all the important hotel areas. Parts of the entrance hall are painted by hand with motifs taken from Leonardo da Vinci. These mainly include his early technical studies, such as land and water vehicle and motifs from air travel, as well as the 'measure of all things', the famous 'Vitruvian Man' on the ceiling. In the African-inspired breakfast room, which at 313 m² has room for 230 seats, hotel guests are offered an extensive buffet breakfast every day.

The Hotel Sinsheim doesn't just offer its guests a comfortable night's sleep, but also many other facilities, from the cocktail lounge to the wellness area. In the wellness area, the 'Little Oasis', guests can make use of a fitness room with multifunctional equipment, a Finnish sauna, a Turkish steam bath and an aromatic shower. You can really relax in the cosy rest room with its sun terrace. You can also have a massage.

The restaurant 'Fandango', with African stylistic features and 160 seats, promises real enjoyment with its Mediterranean cuisine. The bar-lounge 'Arantas', with Australian-style decor, offers space for 60 people, while the covered terrace, the 'Shark Bar', also has 60 seats. When the weather is good guests can watch specialities from the wood-burning oven and charcoal grill being prepared before their eyes.

The large foyer is also a reception room for conferences. The hotel's conference centre can hold over 250 people. In the conference area there are five different conference rooms, with the most up-to-date conference technology, air conditioning and natural light. The biggest room is 483 m² and has space for about 250 people. It has a large roller door, through which even large vehicles and machines can be brought into the conference room. The conference rooms all have natural light and air conditioning. In addition, each room also has the standard conference technology (projector and screen, flip chart, TV with DVD/VHS etc.).

Of course, the hotel team also offer exceptional service for conference attendants, from the coffee break and drinks through to the lunch buffet or an exquisite evening meal. The hotel's professional event management team ensures events run smoothly. There is also the option of holding one-off conferences and events in the nearby Sinsheim Auto & Technik Museum, with its IMAX 3D Laser 4k cinema.
