Speyer. Sushi, samurai or manga. The land of the rising sun, as Japan is also known, is famous for its traditions, but also for its technical developments. Japanese cuisine and manga and Japanese vehicles have long been part of everyday life in Germany, too. A special form of Asian subculture is "Japanese car tuning", and in this country, too, a large fan base has developed with numerous supporters who are enthusiastic about tuned "made in Japan" automobiles.

Christian Vogt from Speyer is one such fan and has been active in the scene for many years. He and his team at the Jacatu Forum have been organising meets on the topic of the popular "rice bowls" – the nickname for cars from Asian manufacturers – on the grounds of the Technik Museum Speyer for years. In the beginning, everyone was just looking for a place to meet some like-minded people. By now, the Jacatu meeting has become an integral part of the Speyer event calendar, and will next take place on 29th and 30th June 2019. More participants and fans of the Japanese tuning scene come each year, and we are expecting up to 600 vehicles this year. Whether a special paint job or special equipment, interior tuning or a HiGi conversion, the meet will be a colourful, varied and loud event for all. From 10am to 6pm on Saturday, 29th June 2019, there will be vehicle assessments in various categories on the programme, among other things. Once again, the "Best of Neon" competition will take place, as well as a dealer's mile. On Sunday 30th June 2019, from 9am to 5pm, vehicles of all kinds will be welcome at the all-brand meet.

The Jacatu Forum will once again make a charitable donation this year, under the slogan "Tuning with Heart". The Jacatu Meet is free for visitors and takes place in the car park of the Technik Museum Speyer. Information for participants and registration conditions are available at www.team-jacatu.de.
